Therapy

The Behavioral Health professionals at MidHudson Regional Hospital believe that people can make improvements in their lives. Therapy encourages people to explore how they presently function and helps them to identify areas that need improvement.

Our focus is on the changes in thinking and behavior that occur over the course of a lifetime. These changes may include self-image, relationships with others, vocational adjustment, use of leisure time, and the ability to plan for the future.

Self-defeating behavior patterns and plans for changing them will be explored. In each case, the length and focus of treatment will be jointly determined by the individual and his/her therapist.

We are dedicated to assisting individuals to achieve goals meaningful to them.
